Throughout the northern hemisphere, the busy summer season of music is in full swing, with an abundance of tours and festivals that make Meyer Sound your first choice to provide high-fidelity sound in events ranging from concerts to festivals to arenas outdoor mass, from North America to Europe and Asia, and from jazz and heavy metal to the Princess of Pop

With the power, consistency and reliability that have proven to withstand extreme weather conditions, the Meyer Sound self-powered systems are the mainstay of the summer festival circuit every year. The perennial favorites Europeans have long relied on Meyer Sound loudspeakers, including the famed Montreaux Jazz Festival in Switzerland, Germany Moers, Sziget in Hungary and many other outdoor festivals in Norway, Sweden, Spain and the United Kingdom. In Eastern Europe, the Festival Novo Mesto in Slovenia is providing Meyer Sound systems for a range of musical celebrations including Lent Festival and Rock Otocec, while the Celebration of Song and Dance "To Breathe as One 2009" will attract to a mass audience in Tallinn, Estonia, with the reinforcement provided by the local company Eventech audio.

Across America, the scene of festivals also promises to deliver a first listening experience for visitors from far and near, with Meyer Sound systems providing power to the Rothbury Festival in Michigan (Thunder Audio), the Mile High Festival in Colorado (Dowler Sound), and the Summerfest in Wisconsin (Clearwing Productions).

For the MX Beat Guadalajara, CREA company based in Mexico City provided a set of MILO line array loudspeakers, which gave a high sound pressure level during presentations of Cat Power, Mystery Jets and Sebastian Tellier, a Despite the unpredictable weather. "The Guadalajara temperatures can fluctuate between zero and 37 degrees Celsius," says Saul Rodriguez, product manager for MX Beat. "Meyer Sound systems were really the only option for so demanding conditions."

A growing number of festivals in Asia are using Meyer Sound systems this year. In Bangalore, India, 24x7 Rockathon is being considered for an entry in the Limca Book of Records for being the musical concert and live webcast longest continuous, with 50 bands playing for four days with reinforcement of a Meyer Sound system provided by Reynolds Sound and Lighting Services. "We had three teams working in shifts while the system worked diligently 24 hours a day without a single problem," says Felix Remedies Sound and Lighting Services Reynolds. "It was an impressive display of Meyer Sound equipment reliability."

In the world of touring, MILO line array loudspeaker, remains the standard among the biggest tours and most notable. Metallica, the masters of metal are rocking arenas across Europe with a system of MILO line array loudspeakers provided by Thunder Audio. Britney Spears and Andre Rieu are each carrying a touring MILO system provided by Solotech, based in Montreal. ProMedia / UltraSound chose Meyer Sound systems for Dave Matthews Band and The Dead, Masque Sound while based in Rutherford NJ is providing Celtic Woman tour through the United States.

In the United Kingdom, the rig MILOs Capital Sound is following the Il Divo tour across several continents, and Meyer Sound systems Canegreen have been hired to tour with Paul Weller, The Enemy and Ray LaMontagne.
